

Growing Up In India

Apr 4, 2019 | Richard Newstead

Mayur Kakade's work is passionate, captivating, and family first. His latest work came from our drive to authentically represent modern family life around the world. Based in Maharashtra, India, Mayur documents his family, friends, and local area and approaches his world with a warm, engaging aesthetic that turns everyday life into something much more magical. This sensitive approach allows his subjects to forget the camera's presence and the result is an intimate, real-life peek into the beauty of the day-to-day.