Jun 29, 2021 | Rachel Brinton Matthews

Celebrations of love will never go out of style, so it's important we represent love for all. In this new Wedding Day film by Photographer and Director Kelvin Murray, the elegance and emotions of the day are intimately crafted with expert-level camera work and production. Casting a real-life, same-sex couple strengthens the emotional impact of the narrative by showing the importance of inclusion and visual representation for the LGBTQ+ community.
